BRINGING THE GOSPEL MESSAGE TO THOUSANDS OF MEN AND WOMEN IN ALABAMA'S PRISON SYSTEM

HERE'S WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING...

MIRIAM STRITE, VA, VOLUNTEER

Every year when I go into prison, I am reminded of how much I take for granted the blessing of growing up in a godly Christian home. Most of the young women I meet in prison have one or both parents in prison. Or they don't know who their parents are. As I observe these women, my heart is filled with compassion because I know that each one is a soul who will spend eternity somewhere. That moves me to reach out in love and be a vessel used of God to help point them to Christ.

CHRIS SUMMERS, AL, STATE CHAPLAIN AT HOLMAN CORRECTIONAL FACILITY

I first learned about the ministry of We Care through its annual crusades. My father-in-law, who is now with the Lord, was set on fire by the Lord after he attended as a volunteer for the first time in 1979. When he discovered how the Lord could use him in the prison setting and fill him with an energetic love for others, he was unstoppable in telling others about Jesus and the needs in Alabama prisons. I am in prison ministry as a result of my father-in-law's passion to see men in prison saved and encouraged in Christ. It was his encouragement that led my family to Atmore. Since May of 1981, we've been here with prison ministry at the center of our mission. One might ask, how have the We Care crusades impacted my life? In a very real "faith centered" way, they have set a defined course for me and changed my life in ways I could never have imagined. (soli deo gloria)

JASON SHELLY, PA, FIRST-TIME VOLUNTEER IN 2011

Participating in this past year's crusade has forever changed my life. For many years I told myself that my calling is to drive a truck. After a week spent with We Care staff and the inmates, many of whom I call brothers and friends, I'm not so sure that IS my calling. I left with many mixed feelings, and I am still sifting them out. I do know that if they would let me into Holman tomorrow, I would catch a flight down there tonight! It was a highlight of my life and I am looking forward to this January.

DALE MAST, SC, LONG-TIME VOLUNTEER & TEAM LEADER

The relationships I have built not only with inmates but also with other volunteers have enriched me personally and challenged me to be more Christlike in my everyday life. Society tells us that inmates do not deserve to be treated with respect, but they forget that these same men and women will someday be out in our neighborhoods and communities. Unless someone helps them see another way of life, they will be right back doing the same thing, and the results will be the same if not worse. I have found that when I pour myself into someone else, God does something in my own life. It is humbling to realize that I can be the hands of Jesus in prison.
